Heather Clark partners with key stakeholders within organizations to assist with corporate governance and compliance, mergers and acquisitions, and handles related state filings. She works with clients of all sizes and is a resource for them by acting as a liaison to other third parties in connection with assorted corporate requests.

Heather handles all stages of general corporate law, from integral corporate documents and general maintenance to assisting with mergers, acquisitions, restructures, and private equity transactions.

Heather's wide-ranging experience results in a committed and thorough understanding of and familiarity with clients' businesses, corporate structure, locations, people, products and technologies. Heather has worked in various areas of law, including Corporate, Mergers and Acquisitions, Contract Law, Construction and Commercial Litigation, Insurance Defense, and Employment Law. Prior to joining Koley Jessen, she was an in-house paralegal, where she assisted with corporate governance, prepared materials for Board of Directors meetings, domestic and foreign legal entity management, and assisted with Securities and Exchange Commission filings.
