Do not let your business be caught off guard by the ever-changing data privacy law landscape. Our team will provide practical advice on what your company needs to do to comply with current data privacy laws, and discuss best practices to be ready as new laws come into effect.

While your business may have not focused on the various international laws now in place, many states in the U.S. are now enacting their own data privacy laws, and a national law has been discussed. Join us to learn how you can be prepared -- and avoid penalties and litigation -- related to data privacy.
