

Alex Wolf Named Midlands Business Journal “40 Under 40” Recipient

11.08.2018

Alex Wolf, Shareholder, Executive Vice President, and Chair of the Tax Practice Group at Koley Jessen has been named a 2018 Midlands Business Journal 40 Under 40 award winner. He was recognized at the Midlands Business Journal’s 40 Under 40 Awards Breakfast on November 2, 2018 for having shown drive, leadership and success in his career as well as within the community.

“This recognition of Alex’s role in our firm and the community is well-deserved,” says Mike Hupp, President and Chairman of Koley Jessen. “At the age of 38, Alex has an impressive roster of leadership positions at our firm and in the community.”

Alex’s practice focuses extensively on estate planning and estate administration, business succession planning, and organizational/tax planning for closely-held businesses and nonprofit entities. He draws on his small-town Midwestern values while working with high net worth individuals, business owners, and nonprofit entities as they seek to build and preserve a legacy. He has been recognized by Chambers and Partners as a leading lawyer in Nebraska for Private Wealth Law.

Aside from his work at Koley Jessen, Alex is active in the community. He is a graduate of Leadership Omaha, is on the Board and Executive Committee of the Nebraska Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, is a Trustee of the Business Ethics Alliance, and is on the AKSARBEN Floor Committee.

ATTORNEYS

Alexander J. Wolf

Alex Wolf Named Midlands Business Journal “40 Under 40” Recipient

“I’m honored to receive this recognition from the Midlands Business Journal,” says Alex. “Koley Jessen has provided me a wonderful platform to grow my practice, work with clients on some of their most important matters and step into leadership roles.”