

Families First Coronavirus Response Act Notice Requirement

03.25.2020

The U.S. Department of Labor recently published their model notice for employers, pursuant to the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA). According to the DOL, notice of the FFCRA's requirements must be posted, in a conspicuous place on its premises, by each covered employer by April 1, 2020.

In the event the business premises are closed, employers may satisfy the requirement by emailing or direct mailing the notice to employees, or posting the notice on an employee information website.
